OLIVE OILS

Some of the best olive oil in the world comes from Kalamata and Western Crete in Greece, thanks to long hot summers, moderate wind and the mountainous landscape which nurtures oil rich olives.

MEZE

Mediterranean meze, like Spanish tapas or Italian antipasti, is one of life's great pleasures. The most important ingredient in a meze feast is other people. It's all about bringing people together and sharing a range of small plates and sharing dishes with different colours, textures and flavours. There should be as much conversation and laughter as there are dishes on the table.

PASTA

Rustichella pasta is made with selected durum wheat grown in the Abruzzo region and spring water from the Apennine mountains. The wheat is stone ground and mixed to form a dough which is extruded through bronze dies. These dies create a rough surface texture which enables sauce to cling to the pasta and give the pasta its unique grainy surface.

An aerial photograph of a small, yellow and white boat with a white canopy, floating in clear, turquoise water. The boat is positioned in the lower right quadrant of the frame. The water shows varying shades of green and blue, indicating different depths and seabed compositions. In the background, a rocky shoreline with some dark patches of seaweed or rocks is visible. The overall scene is serene and natural.
