Olive oil

Some of the best olive oil in the world comes from Kalamata and Western Crete in Greece, thanks to long hot summers, moderate wind and the mountainous landscape which nurtures oil rich olives.

A well-balanced olive oil with medium fruitiness and a light to medium pungency. Full-bodied herbaceous flavour that slowly builds in the mouth leaving a pleasant peppery aftertaste. Fresh grassy aroma with notes of citrus and tomatoes on the vine

Meze

Mediterranean meze, like Spanish tapas or Italian antipasti, is one of life's great pleasures. The most important ingredient in a meze feast is other people. It's all about bringing people together and sharing a range of small plates and sharing dishes with different colours, textures and flavours. There should be as much conversation and laughter as there are dishes on the table.

ODYSEA

An aerial photograph of a small, white-hulled boat with a yellow cabin and a white canopy, floating in clear, turquoise water. The boat is positioned in the lower right quadrant of the frame. The water is exceptionally clear, revealing dark, rocky seabeds and patches of green seaweed. In the background, a rugged, rocky coastline with some sparse vegetation is visible under bright, natural light.
